I will try to come by sometime early afternoon if that's ok. I got my charger fixed, I will have to re install the alt to get the fan belt to work (for the pump), I may even hook up the external regulator so I can keep the battery charged.

When I was teaching auto shop we had test stands that were basically the framework for a table with a rectangle of angle iron and four legs with casters. Mounts to fit the engine we had in that stand, brackets for a radiator and a small dash with an ignition switch and temp and oil pressure gauges.

I made mine out of scrap steel. It has a series of holes to adjust from big to small block, it's high enough that I can drop a pan while it's on there, run any basic header, and the gage pod, ignition module, and starter button are on a removable panel so I can leave the stand outside when it's not in use.

10) volt gauge black wire to frame of test stand, battery - or engine block Now on your oil psi and water temp.. You could use mech. senders (plastic, copper tube going from gauge to engine) or elec. senders where a sender is screwed into engine, then a wire goes from sender to gauge. Wired up like that..
